Guide to applying for registration as a self assessor

Do not return this Guide with the completed form. Retain the Guide for future reference.

Am I eligible for registration as a self assessor?

You can apply for registration as a self assessor if you:

- Carry on business in Queensland as a general insurer or life insurer;
- Are or will become party to documents or transactions on which duty is imposed; or
- In the ordinary course of business, act as an agent for parties to documents or transactions on which duty is imposed.

Registered self assessors are able to self assess duty on certain documents and transactions, endorse documents for duty if required and pay duty with lodgement of a periodic return.

If you are a taxpayers' agent, such as a solicitor or financial institution, you must become a self assessor and you must self assess all documents/transactions that your notice of registration requires you to self assess. You will not be permitted to lodge documents/transactions that you are required to self assess for commissioner assessment.

Generally, only one self assessor registration will be permitted for a legal entity. However in certain circumstances the commissioner may provide additional registrations where, upon application, it can be demonstrated there is a significant degree of autonomy between each of the legal entity's business units. The elements of separation that the commissioner may consider include:

- financial independence between business units, in terms of separate operating accounts and trust accounts;
- business operational independence between business units in terms of day to day control; and
- business relationship independence between the business units considering issues such as sharing of resources, integrated client base etc.

What are my obligations?

To apply for registration you must complete an Application for self assessor registration (Form OSR – D12.1) and return it to the Office of State Revenue.

We will notify you if we approve your application and you are registered as a self assessor for the business/documents or transactions mentioned in your application. This notice will also contain information about your obligations as a self assessor including what you must/must not self assess, when you must lodge returns and pay duty, what documentation you must retain/lodge with your returns and any endorsements that you must make on self assessed documents.

For further information on the obligations of registered self assessors, you should refer to the Duties Act 2001 and the Taxation Administration Act 2001, and to the publications contained on our website at www.osr.qld.gov.au following the links to 'self assessors'. It is important that you familiarise yourself with your obligations as interest and penalties may be imposed on you/your clients if you do not comply with these obligations.
